When will trading of CUAN shares re-open on the IDX?

Answer:

We appreciate all the ongoing processes at the IDX at this time, we also understand that caution is needed before the IDX can finally decide whether trading of CUAN shares can re-open in a short time or within a reasonable time according to the IDX. We, as Management, are wide open to keep in touch and provide explanations, documents and any information if needed by the IDX. We understand that this is part of the implementation of the oversight function which is the responsibility of the IDX, and we support the decisions and implementation of the duties of the IDX. Of course, we hope that the opening of this suspension will be implemented in the near future.
